A Service spotlight paper may be submitted independently or commissioned by the Editorial Board. The piece aims to highlight an individual, group, or program (i.e., clinicians, mentors, or athletes/teams) that has made a valuable contribution and positive impact to a community through service, volunteerism, or humanitarian work to advance equitable and safe sport, illness or injury prevention, or physical activity for a healthier world. We particularly wish to highlight work supporting marginalized and disempowered communities or vulnerable populations (including but not limited to, the socioeconomically disadvantaged, racial and ethnic minorities, children and youth, older adults, persons with disabilities, LGBTQIA2S+, and the underinsured).

The submission should include some or all of the following aspects:

- Background of the individual, group, or program being recognised
- How the community was engaged as a partner to identify and address challenges
- The purpose of the service, volunteerism, or humanitarian effort
- The potential impact of the work on the community (i.e., safer sport, healthier world)
- Reflections of success and failures (i.e., lessons learned)
- How to make the project sustainable or replicable in other communities
- Additional resources about the service or program
